Washington, DC

202.857.3233

For over 30 years, Michael has successfully represented multinational companies as lead counsel in trials and appeals of patent cases in District Courts and at the Federal Circuit, as well as Section 337 cases at the International Trade Commission. His experience has encompassed technical areas that include recombinantly produced hormones, pharmaceuticals, protein synthesis and expression products, fibers, films, polymers, plastics and medical devices. Michael also counsels clients on intellectual property issues, including validity and infringement of intellectual property rights, licensing and contract matters and Hatch-Waxman issues.

He has lectured on numerous topics including strategies for opinion drafting, pharmaceutical litigation strategies, AIA procedures, compulsory licensing, and Patent Law Reform. He is the former Chair of FCBA's amicus committee, a former member of its Board of Directors, as well as a former Chair of the AIPLA Chemical Practice Committee. Prior to working as a patent attorney, Michael worked at FMC Corporation agricultural chemicals research facility on the synthesis, isolation and characterization of novel plant growth regulators, herbicides and insecticides.

Michael is a former adjunct professor of law at George Washington University's National Law Center, where he co-taught International and Comparative Patent Law. He is on the Advisory Board of the Naples Roundtable and a regular speaker at the Annual Leahy Institute of Advanced Patent Studies. He has been quoted by The Washington Post, The Legal Times, The Corporate Legal Times, Bloomberg News Service, The IP Law Bulletin, and others.

He has been named in the IAM Patent 1000 list of The World's Leading Patent Practitioners from 2014-2018, and listed as a leading expert in the Financier Worldwide Corporate Advisor Handbook for Intellectual Property from 2014-2018.
