Susan specializes in patent practice in the electrical and mechanical arts before the USPTO. Her practice includes appeals and trials before the USPTO and IP portfolio building for large and small companies. Susan's legal expertise also extends to multi-party patent litigation before several U.S. federal district courts, the U.S. International Trade Commission, the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation, and the U.S. Federal Trade Commission. She counsels clients in patent licensing and valuation. She lectures internationally on USPTO practice and is widely published on patent strategy relating to substantive law and procedure.
